PRETTY ASSISTANCE—Members of Sponsors and other service groups on campus will aid in the M-Men Tournament being held in

Smith Fieldhouse during the week. The women will usher, sit with team members and otherwise aid in tournament duties

World's Biggest Hoop Contest . . .

BYU Hosts Huge LDS Tourney

by PAUL GAMBLES
Universe Sports Writer

The 1957 M-Men tournament begins tonight in Smith Field house with 32 teams bidding for the All-Church championship. Opening game is at 7 p. m. with highly touted Plain City pitted against Ninth Ward of Salt Lake City. Plain City, led by former Utah State All-American Bert Cooke, is rated as one of the favorites in the '57 scramble. Plain City placed second behind Pleasant Grove last year with Cooke, making All-Church.

Provo Ninth looms as a favorite in the six-day event. Joe Bond, 6-8 center who was named All-Church twice, is expected by many to lead his team to another championship this year.

Wilmington Ward of southern California is expected to be in the scrap right down to the wire. Farish was All-Church in 1955.

Grayson Ward of Blanding, Utah is another team that has been in the heat of things when the Church classic has been in progress.

Richard Perkins, outstanding forward of Grayson, will be back to help his club in this year's fray. Grayson players have averages above ten a game.

Mesa Sixth is listed as the "dark horse" in the tourney. Their big gun is former football All-American of Arizona State College, Wizzer White. This is Mesa Sixth's first trip to the fracas.

Two ward teams will have high school players on their rosters: Copperton and Mapleton First. These two teams are also listed as "dark horses."

Hosting the teams will be 32 BYU coeds who will sit with the teams while in action. They will also serve as guides on campus.

Canyon Trip Set By Geology Dept.

The annual geology field trip to Bryce Canyon and Zions National Park will take place over the weekend of May 4th and 5th.

The trip, which cost $12, will leave at 7 a. m. by chartered bus, Saturday and return about 6 p. m. Sunday. The $12 fee includes transportation, supper Saturday night, and breakfast and lunch Sunday. There will be a fireside Saturday night and a religious service Sunday. A brochure will be given everyone which points out points of interest.

All students including geology students may take this trip. Any students wishing to go should sign up and pay their fee in 290 ESC before April 26.

Striving For Perfection Vital, Declares Elder

"Do you think that it is worth the effort to be able to obtain the celestial kingdom?" emerged as one of the main themes of Sunday's Brigham Young Stake Conference of spring quarter.

Stirling W. Sill, assistant to the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, declared that each person is given a talent so that he can be superior in one way or another, that is, if he develops his talents which the Lord has blessed him with.

Talents Should Inspire

"We should use our talents to inspire individuals inside and outside the LDS Church," said Elder Sill, "because each and every one of us is some sort of a broadcasting station."

Elder Sill also mentioned that every person has a particular relationship to the Book of Mormon prophet Mormon, the great general. "This is because we, all who are members of the LDS Church are his namesakes," he said.

Live Worthy of Name

"We should try to live our lives so that we will be worthy of this name. For as Mormon states in the Book of Mormon, he will stand at the judgment bar of God when the day of our personal judgment has come," concluded Elder Sill.

President Antone K. Romney of the B. Y. Stake presented the opening talk of Sunday morning's conference session.

Formula for Performance

In this speech President Romney gave the congregation Elder Sill's key formula which is planning, preparation, personal work, personality and perseverance, all which equal perfect performance.

He said that "at the beginning of a new quarter, we should endeavor to develop our leadership qualities and lives, to act every day to obtain the objectives that we came here for."

These objectives are to substantiate our beliefs and our testimonies, declared President Romney.

He stressed, "We should become balanced in our activities at BYU, but we should not become over-balanced and we should not sacrifice."

The B. Y. Stake president continued, "We must fill our minds with things that will uplift our thoughts and lives."

This, according to President Romney, is connected with Elder Sill's statement, "It will not be any foreign power that will destroy America, but it will be the wrath of God, because of the iniquities of the inhabitants of this land that will destroy it."

Revised ASBYU Constitution Ready For Ratification Vote

The much vexed question of a constitution for the Associated Students of Brigham Young University cropped up again Thursday with an announcement that the proposed new constitution is almost ready for a ratification vote.

Senators Will Vote On Limitations Bill

A bill will soon be put before the Senate, proposing to limit students to the holding of one major office.

The bill has been altered from a highly complicated report providing for a point system which included nearly all officers to one which restricts only the holding of major offices.

Those officers which would be affected by the bill are: All Executive Council members, Cabinet members, class officers, Senators, the Inter Organization Council presidency, Associated Men Students and Associated Women Students presidency and council members, and the editors of the Banyan, Daily Universe, and Wye magazine.

The objective of the bill, according to its sponsor, freshman senator Rich Hunter, is to have a larger number of students share in the experience and pleasure of leadership.

According to Hunter, the bill would also help keep students from jeopardizing either their academic career or the work which they have accepted in their positions of responsibility.

After undergoing several final changes as a result of student discussion at an open forum held Winter quarter, the constitution passed from the Senate committee which drafted it to administration officials who will consider it further. If it clears this final hurdle, it will be submitted to the studentbody for their approval.

Since it is not known if and when the proposed constitution will receive administration approval, no date has been set for ratification vote.

Senate officials still retain some hope that this vote can be taken before or during coming studentbody elections. Copies of the new constitution have been posted on various bulletin boards for the perusal of interested students.

Since this vote is likely to be held soon, the Daily Universe intends to give and invite comment, beginning immediately, on the basic issues defined by the proposed constitution.

Readers holding decided opinions on these issues are urged to submit letters of not more than 200 words to the Daily Universe editor.

Daily Universe Staff meeting will be held Monday at 4:30 p. m. All reporters, photographers, and editors are required to be in prompt attendance.

Jose Limon To Dance At Lyceum

Jose Limon, male modern dancer, and his company will perform on Monday's lyceum in the Smith Auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

Limon's dancing company, considered one of the cultural assets of the country, have been selected this year by the State Department to dance in the capitals of Europe and the Near East countries.

This honor resulted from years of dedication to dancing artistry as a well-integrated unit, each of whose members is an artist of highest achievement.

The dance group has been featured on major artistic series every year, and has performed with the Juilliard Orchestra, and the following symphony orchestras: Rochester, Hartford, Erie, Oklahoma City, Dayton and Symphony of the Air.

They danced in the American Dance Festival, the New London Festival, and the Empire State Festival and have performed in coast to coast tour shows.

Limon, reputed to be a top male modern dancer in the Americas, was born in Culiacan, Sinaloa, Mexico and moved to California while a boy. In 1950 he spent 16 months revisiting his home and performing with his dancing company in Mexico City and elsewhere.

Limon's recent work, "The Traitor," choreographed for eight men and symbolical of "The Last Supper," was premiered at Connecticut College in 1954. Some critics raved and others severely criticized "The Traitor," still one of Limon's favorites.

MODERN MALE ARTIST—Jose Limon and his troupe of male dancers will perform at a Lyceum Monday evening in the Smith Auditorium. The group is known for modern interpretation.

WORD FOR WISE VOTERS

We students of Brigham Young University are now on the threshold of the most important and responsible chapter of this year's history of community affairs.

Elections are the bread and butter of our democratic way, and if any public of all the publics comprising this nation should be a showpiece for democracy, it would be a body of collegians voting for their leader.

CAMPAIGN BEGINS TUESDAY

Tuesday marks the beginning of campaigning for several studentbody offices, including the important post of ASBYU President.

This period of selection is important in many ways. Not only are we choosing our president, but we are also utilizing a most cherished privilege not had by many people, nor taken advantage of by some.

Members of this studentbody, with their education and a more than average knowledge of the sacrifice for, and meaning of, free elections, should be an example for all in making full use of this right.

NOTE AND VOTE WISELY

Voting, and voting wisely are far different in meaning. Many of us vote on face value or are influenced by a neighbor. Before actual campaigning is underway, some have already made their selection, based not on the firm foundation of fact but on something abstract.

Let us cast off our predispositions and other veils which may hamper good reasoning and a wise choice.

Everyone of us should follow the campaigns of various candidates and listen attentively to what is said rather than admiring "front stuff" such as smiles or handshakes. There are many issues that are vital to all, and straight from the candidate's mouth is the only valid means of correctly estimating the office-seekers.

BE HONEST, CONFIDENT, DISCREET

The candidates for studentbody president are fine men, and any choice would be difficult. However, the responsibility is on our shoulders to give all a fair and honest appraisal. Then, vote confidently and discreetly.

Mature campaigning and mature voting will surely achieve the ultimate goal, the choice of the best person for the job.

Safety Valve

by the Readers

LAST WORD

Dear Editor,

We are graduating seniors (perhaps?). We have been avid readers of "Safety Valve" during our interim at this institution. There have been times when we have been slightly displeased with some of the inferences, suggestions, and observations that have been printed in this column. However, having respect for those people submitting articles, we have withheld our opinions. At least we have done so until these latest "masterpieces" by Sir Ronald Wilcox and Duchess Norma Jean Bergen.

Dr. Schreiner's concert was considered a lyceum. It is the understanding of these authors that lyceums are for the benefit and enjoyment of the entire studentbody, not the organ classes alone. If Wilcox and Bergen's opinions represent the opinions of the organ classes, perhaps they should extend an invitation to Dr. Schreiner to play a concert of "heavy" music to this select few.

Mr. Wilcox's interpretation of Mr. Koenig's article of March 8 reminds us of Vardis Fisher's interpretation of Mormon doctrines. This in effect is the way we interpret Mr. Koenig's article. "Dr. Schreiner, some of us have devoted our lives to another field of learning and haven't had time to really learn to appreciate the "heavy" classical music. We are not implying that heavy classical music is undesirable, rather our understanding is insufficient to permit appreciation of it. A program presented to the entire studentbody would seem more appropriate if it contained selections to satisfy the entire audience, including both the organ classes and we of lesser appreciation."

We are not trying to justify the rudeness on the part of any one, in the audience. Concert rudeness is not condoned but concert adaptability is implied. Amen to Mr. Koenig.

Ray A. Cattani
Laren R. Robison

(Editor's note) . . . And now Mr. Schreiner, rest in peace.

Off Beat

by Gene Barlow

Well here we are back at the grind again and the quarter only four days old.

Vacations from assignments are apt to be scarce for us during the next two months, but the time will by no means be dull. Just think of all we have to look forward to: student elections, varied dinner dances, repopulation of "snob hill" and "below the 'Y'" spring fever, tubing, and June brides!

CAMPUS REVOLTS

With the newspapers full of political revolutions, little space is attributed to campus uprisings.

A minor revolt even took place on our "fame" campus last week. One of the Heritage Halls allegedly rose up against their dorm hours. A "mob" of these girls "walked out" after dorm hours.

We still have some "brave and free" on our campus, even with restricting laws.

Speaking of uprisings, the "Stanford Daily" staff went on strike!

It seems they were opposed to the insecurity of the editor's position. A petition of 400 names and 15 studentbody officers are all that is necessary to give the editor the "boot".

It looks like the "Ivy school" will be without a "news-sheet" instead of an editor, though.

BEARD TIME AGAIN

"Y" day beards are beginning to show up about campus this past week. The unshaven few are supposedly willing to sacrifice all for that one deaming day of glory. There must be an easier way to success!

HIZZONER SAYS NO RADAR

Three cheers and a Supreme Court nomination for Chicago Municipal Court Judge Henry C. Ferguson, who threw out 20 speeding cases in two days because "It is obviously impossible" for a radar machine to appear in court.

RADAR EVIDENCE NO GOOD

The Chicago bench-warmer feels the radar evidence is unconstitutional since it is not a witness which a defendant can meet in court face-to-face.

No righteous soul is against the exercise of jurisprudence, but the cold calculations of radar equipment do not reason as to the conditions of a given speed, only whether that speed is above or below an arbitrary point.

AMERICA'S FIRST JAM

There is a rumor that America's first traffic jam occurred in Chicago and that the original drivers are still trying to get home. True or otherwise, heavy traffic does have an effect on minimizing recklessness, so safely moving traffic should not be penalized to pay the expenses of "fascinating" radar equipment.

Human reasoning can determine the safety or recklessness of a traffic situation, rather than the mechanical record of the speed at which a vehicle is traveling. The latter, however, seems obviously to be the case in Chicago—land's perpetually heavy traffic, for a dozen cases of recklessness there a day could prove fatal, which thousands of drivers sustaining speeds even above the arbitrary limit are not as dangerous.

HIZZONER HAS A POINT

Hizzoner seems to have a point, since the human eye is capable of observing conditions that radar machines lack the capacity to record.

With four states—New York, New Jersey, Virginia, and South Carolina—already declaring radar evidence valid in speeding cases, it is inevitable that the cause will be brought before the U. S. Supreme Court by some enterprising lawyer in the near future.

So, here's the first motion for Judge Ferguson's nomination to the U. S. Supreme Court at the next available vacancy, and the chance to get these money-hungry devices outlawed.

Finlinson, a senior from Leamington, Utah, holds the Skyline conference 880 yard record. He now runs the 440 yard dash and is considered to be a threat to the record in that event.

The 440 yard ace was also anchor man on BYU's mile relay team which set a new conference record last spring. He set a new BYU stadium record of 1:53 in the 880 yard run, bettering Mal Whitfield's old mark of 1:53.7.

As a senior at Delta High school in 1953, Finlinson won first place in the 880 yard run at the state meet. That was his first year at participating in track.

Anderson, first quarter senior from Fillmore, Utah, is thought to be a contender this year for Finlinson's 880 yard conference record. The half-miler held the Western Division record for one week before Finlinson broke it in 1955.

Last year Anderson, one of BYU's top distance men, broke the AAU record in both the 880 yard and mile runs. He will devote his ability to the 880 yard race this season.

Anderson won the half mile race at the state meet in 1952, his senior year at Millard High school. He participated in track four years at Millard where he also played football and basketball.

Anderson and Finlinson, who are cousins, room together. They both took the trip to Europe last summer with the track team and turned in outstanding performances.

Counting on the stellar performance of sixteen returning lettermen and eighteen newcomers, Coach Clarence Robison hopes to take the Skyline Conference track for the third year in a row.

Brigham Young University's tracksters have been taking advantage of the early spring weather in an all-out attempt to be ready for the fast approaching cinder season.

The track squad has been training steadily since early in January, and according to Robison they are over the usually early season injury plague.

Robison has put his finger on dash men Harry Anderson and Richard Heywood as standouts. Both men are returning lettermen and figured prominently in last year's winning season.

In the 440 yard run one of this year's co-captains, Arlyn Finlinson, has been showing fine form, and according to the coach, should set a new conference record in that distance.

Finlinson presently holds the Skyline conference 880 record.

Co-captain Paul Anderson and letterman Oscar Anderson have already begun to turn in fast times in the 880 and provide the varsity team with a great edge in this event.

Ben Brooks, Canadian Olympic try-out and Empire Games representative, and his teammate Weldon Jackson are both

KBYU Will Broadcast M-Men Tournament

KBYU Radio will broadcast key games of the All-Church Senior M-Men Basketball tournament to be held in the Smith Fieldhouse Monday through Saturday, according to Larry Woodward, KBYU sports director.

"We will try to choose the games that will be of most interest to BYU and Provo listeners," said Woodward, who cites the splendid technical cooperation of engineer Francis Boyer, which makes the coverage possible. "We will carry all games that BYU Eleventh or Sixth Wards play."

Ed. note: The Daily Universe will announce daily the games that will be carried; Monday night's broadcast between Provo Ninth and Millcreek First will begin at 8:15 p. m.

ready to accept any challenger to contest with them in the broad jump.

In the mile and two mile runs, Albert Ray, another returning letterman, has been burning up the cinders in an effort to trim his last season's mile time.

New men and frosh are sharpening up Coach Robison's war head and should be contenders for many of the conference records, according to the coach.

Stand-outs in the crew of new spikesters are distance men Joe Tyler and Gary Griffith.

Hurdlers Dave Parker, Beck Millett and Eldon Hastings are busy preparing a three-pronged attack in the high and low hurdles.

John Quinnett, high jump; Marcus Nielsen, pole vault and Gary Merrill and Curtis Brown, shotput and discus complete Coach Clarence Robison's list of early season stand-outs.

According to Robison, the

Fullmer Gets Belt

Salt Lake City, (NS)—The official world's middleweight championship belt will be presented to Gene Fullmer at a luncheon March 27 at the Hotel Utah.

Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring Magazine and nationally-noted boxing historian, will present the belt at the luncheon sponsored by Kennecott Copper Corp.

L. F. Pett, general manager of the Utah Copper Division of Kennecott, where Fullmer is employed as a welder, said:

"We are glad for this opportunity to honor a Kennecott employee who has distinguished himself as an outstanding athlete and who is setting a fine example for the youth of America by his clean living."

Cougar spikers will be heading down into the heart of "track country" on a pre-conference tour beginning April 6th.

Scheduled as the first meet of the season will be a contest against New Mexico at Albuquerque. Robison indicates this will be one that the "h" will be ready to take without much trouble.

On April 9 the cindermen will head for Tucson to meet the University of Arizona, probably the hardest team to beat in the West.

Last year the varsity defeated Arizona State twice. However, the Arizona team has been greatly improved by the addition of Alex Henderson, who has been timed over the mile distance at 4:11.5.

Joe Tyler, a newcomer Cougarville, will oppose Henderson for the distance run. Tyler presently holds the U. S. National 10,000 meter record.

A final pre-season cinder will be the BYU invitation meet to be held in the home stadium April 19 and 20.

The Conference Schedule

April 27—Montana at Missoula
May 3—Utah at Provo
May 11—USAC at Logan
May 18—Western Division meet at Provo
May 24-25—Conference meet at Missoula
June 14-15—NCAA at Austin, Texas
